

Most people have a couple stories about bad dates and failed relationships, but most people are not stupid enough to publish their experiences for the entire world to read. Here lie the bare revelations of one man's failures at meeting, dating and developing successful relationships with women. "My last boyfriend used to tie me up, gag me and get pretty rough. I left him after six years because I felt he didn't respect me." Christina revealed to me on our second date. Ilene said "I know what you're thinking." I only responded "Yeah?" "Yes" she said, "you're looking at my crutches." "I don't think you mentioned that." I answered. "Well" she explained "I was afraid it would scare you away if you knew about the amputation." Emily confided in me "I have to tell you that I am not a real woman" but it's okay. My response was "How the hell can you think something like that would be okay?" Her simple explanation was "Well I really do like to wear women's clothing so it shouldn't make a difference." "A little more alcohol and you'll probably fall off the boat and make a fool of me!" I noticed that Lynn suggested my falling off the boat as more of an inconvenience to her rather than any actual concern for my safety, but considering what I'd already put her through today I kept my mouth shut. I picked up a Bible and began reading verses of interest quietly to the young boy seated next to me. Yuni surprised the entire room by jumped up and yelled "Stop whispering things about me!" "Now that we are dating I expect you to be a real man and start paying some of my bills: Maybe my car payment or the rent." Marie explained to me on our second date. "I didn't mean to lead you on by giving you my number." Kassie cautioned me when I called the number she had given me. You breathe too much my loving wife stated. <http://www.RelationshipsBook.com>
